

SCCT Summer Camps & Classes

May 28 – August 22, 2024

On sale March 13th at scchildrenstheatre.org

Activity Based Camp:

In our Activity-Based Camps, children dive into the world of theatre through high-energy activities and games. The focus here is on exploration and enjoyment rather than the pressure of perfecting performances. Through improvisation, character development, and exploring dramatic interpretations, kids develop a range of skills, including communication, creativity, empathy, and problem-solving. The camp fosters a supportive environment where children can express themselves freely and engage in purposeful physical expression. Teachers capture memorable moments on video to create a keepsake for parents, but the primary goal is to keep children engaged and having fun.

Performance Based Camp:

Our Performance-Based Camps offer children the opportunity to experience the thrill of preparing for a live performance. While still engaging in theatre games and activities, the focus is on honing skills for polished performances. Children build confidence, discipline, and focus through character development, staging scenes, and regular rehearsals. They learn the importance of commitment and hard work in achieving their goals. Although the emphasis is on preparing for a performance, the camp maintains a supportive atmosphere, allowing flexibility for young performers who may have challenging days. Parents receive recordings of the performance to share with friends and family, capturing the culmination of their child's hard work and dedication.

Required for all camps:

- Comfortable clothing that allows for movement
- Shoes that stay on feet and cover toes
- Water bottle labeled with student's name

9-Week Session CLASSES – meet once per week for 9 weeks

EXPLORATION

Designed to foster imagination, creativity, and social development in young children using dramatic play. Our dynamic drama class goes beyond traditional playtime, offering a unique blend of storytelling, role-playing, and interactive games designed to spark their imagination and build confidence. Our curriculum seamlessly integrates educational elements, helping your child develop essential skills such as language, communication, and social interaction. Through the magic of drama, they'll learn to express themselves in a supportive and engaging environment.

PROCESS ACTING CLASS

Get a taste of stardom and explore the process of theatre training through high-energy theatre games, improvisation, and activities. Create characters, explore dramatic interpretation of classic stories, learn lingo, challenge your imagination, and hone projection and articulation skills while engaging the body in purposeful physical expression. Some at-home memorization required. Studying acting can offer numerous benefits to a child's development, both personally and academically.

- Communication Skills: Acting helps children develop strong verbal and non-verbal communication skills. They learn to express themselves clearly, use body language effectively, and articulate emotions.
- Confidence Building: Performing can boost a child's self-confidence. Overcoming stage fright and receiving positive feedback can contribute to a sense of accomplishment (Instead of a live audience, we send parents a recording of the end of session performance to share with friends & family.)
- Creativity and Imagination: Acting encourages creativity and imagination. Children learn to think outside the box, explore different perspectives, and develop a heightened sense of imagination, which can be valuable in various aspects of life.
- Empathy and Emotional Intelligence: Through portraying different characters, children gain a better understanding of human emotions and different perspectives. This can enhance their empathy and emotional intelligence, improving their ability to relate to others.
- Problem-Solving Skills: Acting often involves working with others to solve problems, whether it's figuring out how to stage a scene or collaborating with fellow actors. This can enhance a child's teamwork and problem-solving skills.
- Public Speaking Skills: Acting helps children become more comfortable with public speaking, an essential skill in many areas of life. Whether presenting in class or later in a professional setting, the ability to articulate thoughts and ideas effectively is valuable.
- Discipline and Focus: Rehearsing a piece for performance requires discipline and focus. Children learn the importance of commitment, regular practice, and the value of hard work in achieving their goals.
- Physical Expression: Acting involves using the body as a tool for expression. This can improve a child's physical coordination, awareness of body language, and overall physical expression.
- Life Skills: Many of the skills learned in acting are transferable to other areas of life. Whether it's building confidence, developing strong communication skills, or learning to work effectively in a team, these skills can benefit a child in various personal and professional contexts.

IMPROV BOOTCAMP

Be bold! This class is focused on improvisation training and performance. The objective is for the actor to become comfortable in acting without a script. Benefits for beginning, intermediate, new and returning student actors include working as an independent actor and in groups, learning how to "think on your feet" and perform without self-judgement, introduction to new game formats. A good class for those who want to further their scene study skills, character development skills, and stretch and explore their imagination and creativity. Improvisation training improves performance skills – allowing students to receive all information around them before making choices of their own. Be prepared to laugh and to laugh at yourself too!

WRITE YOUR OWN WORLD PREMIERE

How did we make that play?! Find out through an all-encompassing process-based class! Students will explore writing, directing, and acting by working together to create a one-of-a-kind performance. What do you love most about theatre? Is it the magic of seeing the stories in your imagination come to life? Maybe you like putting the picture together? Perhaps it is becoming a character and discovering their world? Try on each hat- playwright, director and actor- and see which one is the best fit for you. You won't know until you try! If your child is “not an actor,” we can accommodate him/her in this camp and they can focus on the non-performance elements for the production while still gaining social and collaborative skills.

Students who come into this camp should already have experience with basic theatre concepts and terminology. This will allow the group to hone performance skills through high-energy theatre games, improvisation, and challenging activities without having to start at the beginning. But we'll also explore playwriting, design and directing while learning what goes into producing a play.
